

SHOOTS GIRL WHO

REFUSED TO ENTER

Edward Schurman Seized by Three Children After Wounding Ida Potter, but Escapes.

DANBURY, CONN., June 7.—Ida Potter, twenty-five years old, a governess in the home of Robert A. Lake, was shot last night within call of several hundred persons in Main Street by Edward Schurman, of Middletown, N. Y., with whom she had refused to elope. At the Danbury Hospital it was said her wound, which is just below the heart, probably would prove fatal.

Three children who saw the shooting attempted to overpower Schurman, but he threw them off. They were Mary Dunleavy, sixteen years old; her sister, Florence, and Annie Ryer, four and ten years old. They were just in time to see the assassin escape.

They saw Schurman seize his companion by the arm and shoot once.

As the girl fell Mary Dunleavy ran to her help. She caught Schurman's arms as he was about to shoot again, and aided by her companions tried to take the revolver from him.

Schurman broke away and leaped over the wall into the church yard. He forded the river behind the church and escaped.

FROZEN TO DEAD BODIES

Survivor of Wreck Found Alive in Block of Ice.
NEW YORK, June 7.—According to a report received here by Superintendent Lyman Bundy, of the Maritime Exchange, from Victoria, B. C., "Steam boat Pete," a survivor of the schooner John F. Miller, which was wrecked in Alaskan waters, was found in an ice cake two weeks after the disaster. Pete is now at Northwestern Harbor.

The original report was that Pet was found frozen to the dead bodies of two shipmates on the wreck, but it turns out that the survivor and the bodies were found separated in a cave.

When the rescuing party came across the piece of ice they cut it open with an ax out of curiosity, not suspecting what they would find.

thirty-one men for the fishing station in Pirate Cove. While trying to assist the schooner Glen, which was ashore, the Miller was hit by a howling northeaster and struck in Bear Harbor, Unimak Island, Alaska.

The after section drifted ashore, and nineteen of the twenty-one men, drifted seaward, and with the exception of the man who was afterwards found alive on the cake of ice, none of the

The codfishing schooner Ivy had put some men ashore on Unimak Island to get bait, when two members of her crew ran across the piece of ice containing the Bell.

"Steamboat Pete" was frozen face to face to another sailor, while a dead negro sailor was frozen to the back of "Steamboat Pete."

One of the sailors of the Ivy poured the contents of a flask of whiskey down Pete's throat, and the two got him aboard the Ivy as quickly as possible.

A Story Showing That There Still Are Lyre Birds in Jersey.

melodious "hant" of Joe Holloway, abandoned farm, on the outskirts of this town, are Jacob Growther, Charles Spangler and Michael Doremus. The unvelled the mystery on Friday night at 9 o'clock.

for weeks people who had to pass the old Joe Holloway farm took pains to make a wide detour of the Holloway house, for in the house was some force that played a wild, weird, jerk sort of music. Some times the tune seemed to be lost. Sam, the dog, had

The self-constituted committee on investigation penetrated to the innermost part of the house on Friday night.

When later he showed them in the kitchen Abe Wallen's old gray mule with its wandering temperament. The mule was not put out at all. Even as the committee held up the lantern her swishing tail, beating on some ridges across the silent garden, stood

TO BANISH WHITE PLAGUE

CHICAGO, June 7.—Although the scores of physicians who addressed the American Medical Association on tuberculosis during the last week limited their predictions to the checking of the white plague through hygienic methods. Dr. Gerald B. Webb, of England, told the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis yesterday that he hoped to establish a method for securing immunity from the disease.

Spring, where he went because of his own dread of lung trouble. His report to the association was a brief preliminary statement of his experiments upon mice with the poison of malignant anthrax. While his early efforts that an additional amount of the bacilli would not affect them had been fruitful more recently he has succeeded in filling the mice with enough of the germs so that they were immune from attacks of the disease.

this line, he said, he intends to turn his undivided attention to experiments with tuberculosis cultures injected in guinea-pigs.

Brings Ill and Good Luck to Elmer Clayton.

WATERBURY, CONN., June 7.—The presence of a seven-toed cat on the farm of Elmer Clayton has resulted in the mysterious death of chickens and a cow and a calf, and also in a boy. Clayton's breaking his arm and the recovery of Clayton's mother-in-law from a supposedly fatal melody. The is supposed to be bewitched; as it was mysteriously perched on the refrigerator one morning and jumped through a pane of glass when the elder Clayton went into the kitchen to make

To Education Meeting.
CHICAGO, ILL., June 7.—Acting in harmony with the wishes of Mr. Irwin Shepard, secretary of the National Central lines announce that for the meeting of the National Educational Association in Cleveland June 29th to July 3d, they will make an open rate of a fare and one-half for the round trip.

The Island of Cuba embraces about one-half of the total area of the West Indies, with natural commercial advantages surpassed by a few coun-proximately 1,700,000, almost equally divided between the native whites of Spanish origin and negroes and mixed races, depends almost wholly upon the sugar and tobacco crops.
